Oklahoma City — The University of Oklahoma College of Dentistry is seeking adult patients to participate in graduating dental students' board exams Saturday, April 22, to Monday, April 24, at the OU College of Dentistry, 1201 N. Stonewall Ave.

The University of Oklahoma College of Dentistry's graduating dental students will provide periodontal therapy (deep cleanings) and new fillings at no cost to participants. Graduating dental hygiene students will provide periodontal therapy (deep cleanings) at no cost to participants.

Screening appointments are required to determine qualified patients. Patients must be 18 or older. To apply for a screening appointment, please call (405) 271-7744.

For accommodations on the basis of disability, please call (405) 271-7744.

The OU College of Dentistry is home to the state's only doctor of dental surgery program and baccalaureate degree program in dental hygiene. More than 60 percent of Oklahoma's dentists are graduates of the OU College of Dentistry. The college provides general dental care and specialty care to Oklahomans through student, resident and faculty practice clinics. The OU College of Dentistry has established a reputation of training its students to provide the highest quality of clinical care available.
